

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT

FOR THE EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

ALANA DUNN,

Plaintiff,

v.

NOBLE CREDIT UNION, et al.,

Defendants.

Case No. 1:25-cv-00561-SKO

FIRST SCREENING ORDER

(Doc. 1)

THIRTY-DAY DEADLINE

Plaintiff Alana Dunn, proceeding pro se and in forma pauperis, filed a complaint on May 12, 2025. (Doc. 1.) Upon reviewing the complaint, the Court concludes that the complaint fails to state any cognizable claims.

Plaintiff has the following options as to how to proceed. She may file an amended complaint, which the Court will screen in due course. Alternatively, Plaintiff may file a statement with the Court stating that she wants to stand on this complaint and have it reviewed by the presiding district judge, in which case the Court will issue findings and recommendations to the district judge consistent with this order. If Plaintiff does not file anything, the Court will recommend that the case be dismissed.

I. SCREENING REQUIREMENT

In cases where the plaintiff is proceeding in forma pauperis, the Court is required to

1 screen each case and shall dismiss the case at any time if the Court determines that the allegation
2 of poverty is untrue, or that the action or appeal is frivolous or malicious, fails to state a claim
3 upon which relief may be granted, or seeks monetary relief against a defendant who is immune
4 from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2); see also Cato v. United States, 70 F.3d 1103, 1106 (9th
5 Cir. 1995) (district court has discretion to dismiss in forma pauperis complaint); Barren v.
6 Harrington, 152 F.3d 1193 (9th Cir. 1998) (affirming sua sponte dismissal for failure to state a 7 claim). If the Court determines that a complaint fails to state a claim, leave to amend may be 8 granted to the extent that the deficiencies of the complaint can be cured by amendment. Lopez v.
9 Smith, 203 F.3d 1122, 1130 (9th Cir. 2000) (en banc).

10 In determining whether a complaint fails to state a claim, the Court uses the same pleading
11 standard used under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 8(a). A complaint must contain “a short and 12 plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief. . . .” Fed. R. Civ. P.
13 8(a)(2). Detailed factual allegations are not required, but “[t]hreadbare recitals of the elements of 14 a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory statements, do not suffice.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal,
15 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (citing Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007)). A 16 complaint may be dismissed as a matter of law for failure to state a claim based on (1) the lack of 17 a cognizable legal theory; or (2) insufficient facts under a cognizable legal theory. See Balistreri
18 v. Pacifica Police Dep’t, 901 F.2d 696, 699 (9th Cir. 1988). The plaintiff must allege a minimum 19 factual and legal basis for each claim that is sufficient to give each defendant fair notice of what 20 the plaintiff’s claims are and the grounds upon which they rest. See, e.g., Brazil v. U.S. Dep’t of 21 Navy, 66 F.3d 193, 199 (9th Cir. 1995); McKeever v. Block, 932 F.2d 795, 798 (9th Cir. 1991).

22 In reviewing the pro se complaint, the Court is to liberally construe the pleadings and 23 accept as true all factual allegations contained in the complaint. Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89,
24 94 (2007). The Court, however, need not accept a plaintiff’s legal conclusions as true. Iqbal, 556
25 U.S. at 678. “Where a complaint pleads facts that are merely consistent with a defendant’s 26 liability, it stops short of the line between possibility and plausibility of entitlement to relief.” Id.
27 (quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 557) (internal quotation marks omitted).

II. SUMMARY OF PLAINTIFF'S COMPLAINT

Plaintiff prepared the complaint on a form titled “Complaint for a Civil Case.” (Doc. 1.) The complaint lists three defendants: (1) “Noble Credit Union”; (2) “Fresno Base Credit Union”; and (3) “Fresno Base Noble Credit Union.” (Id. at 1.)

Under “Basis for Jurisdiction,” Plaintiff checked the box for “Federal Question.” (Doc. 1 at 4.) The section in which she is asked to indicate which of her federal constitutional or federal statutory rights have been violated is blank. (Id.) The Civil Cover Sheet lists the “Cause of Action” as “Emergency Covid-19 Relief Paycheck Protection Home Equity Loan Program (PPP), Fix Rate HELOCs.” (Doc. 1-1.)

Noble Credit Union: The defendant liable for member fraud both on compensatory, perpetrated by A member of the defendant implementing transaction software and will assign Credit Union on an impossible task—the manual review of thousands of transactions every day—Eligible homeowner received grants to help cover past-sue-mortgages loan or mortgages payments missed property taxes, partial claims/loan deferrals, reverse mortgage, pace loan

(Doc. 1 at 5.) Regarding the relief sought, Plaintiff writes:

Homeowner Facing Financial Hardships as a result of the Covid-19 pandemic, funded by the Federal Government the program helped vulnerable homeowners get a Fresh Start (PPP) (ARPA) Relief.

III. DISCUSSION

For the reasons discussed below, the Court finds that the complaint does not state any cognizable claims. Plaintiff shall be provided with the legal standards that appear to apply to her claims and will be granted an opportunity to file an amended complaint to correct the identified deficiencies.

A. Rule 8

Rule 8 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure states that a complaint must contain "a 1 short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief. . . .” Fed. R.

2 Civ. P. 8(a)(2). Here, Plaintiff’s complaint violates Rule 8 because it does not contain a short and 3 plain statement of the claims demonstrating that she is entitled to relief.

4 Although the Federal Rules use a flexible pleading policy, Plaintiff is required to give fair
5 notice to the defendants of the basis of her claims and must allege facts that support the elements
6 of the claims plainly and succinctly. A complaint must contain sufficient factual allegations to 7 give the defendant fair notice of the claim and the grounds upon which it rests. Twombly, 550
8 U.S. at 555. A complaint is also required to contain sufficient factual content for the Court to 9 draw the reasonable conclusion that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged. Iqbal, 556
10 U.S. at 678.

11 Here, there are no discernable factual allegations in the complaint that identify the basis of 12 the claim(s). It appears that Plaintiff’s claim bears some relationship to an alleged “forgiveness 13 loan” during the Covid-19 pandemic as part of the “Paycheck Protection Program,” (see Doc. 1 at 14 6, 8–9), but not much else is clear. Plaintiff’s statement of her claim is difficult to understand,
15 and does not allege any specific facts giving rise to liability by the named defendants. In short, it
16 is unclear to the Court how the alleged conduct by the defendants establishes the claims that 17 Plaintiff purports to bring against them. “It is Plaintiff’s duty to articulate [their] claim[s]— 18 neither the Court nor the defendants are required to try to decipher what claims Plaintiff is 19 asserting in the action.” Zavala v. Regiosa, No. 1:21-cv-01631-NONE-SKO, 2022 WL 428158, 20 at *2 (E.D. Cal. Feb. 11, 2022).

21 In light of these deficiencies, the Court will grant Plaintiff leave to amend her complaint
22 and set forth her claims more clearly. If Plaintiff elects to amend her complaint, she must state 23 the legal basis for the claim and identify how the facts alleged support and show that the 24 defendants committed the violation asserted as the legal basis for the claims. See Fed. R. Civ. P.
25 8(a). Simply listing the parties and providing unclear recitations of legal terms is not sufficient.

26 B. Legal Standards

27 In the event Plaintiff amends her complaint, the Court provides the following legal 28

1 standards that may be relevant to her action:

2       1.     Federal Subject Matter Jurisdiction

3           Federal courts are courts of limited jurisdiction and their power to adjudicate is limited to 4           that granted by Congress. U.S. v. Sumner, 226 F.3d 1005, 1009 (9th Cir. 2000). Federal courts
5           are presumptively without jurisdiction over civil actions, and the burden to establish the contrary
6           rests upon the party asserting jurisdiction. Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co., 511 U.S. 375, 377
7           (1994). Generally, there are two bases for subject matter jurisdiction: federal question
8           jurisdiction and diversity jurisdiction. 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331, 1332.

9           Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1331, federal district courts have federal question jurisdiction
10          over “all civil actions arising under the Constitution, laws, or treaties of the United States.” “A 11          case ‘arises under’ federal law either where federal law creates the cause of action or ‘where the 12          vindication of a right under state law necessarily turn[s] on some construction of federal law.’” 13          Republican Party of Guam v. Gutierrez, 277 F.3d 1086, 1088–89 (9th Cir. 2002) (quoting 14          Franchise Tax Bd. v. Construction Laborers Vacation Trust, 463 U.S. 1, 8–9 (1983)). The 15          presence or absence of federal question jurisdiction is governed by the “well-pleaded complaint
16          rule.” Caterpillar, Inc. v. Williams, 482 U.S. 386, 392 (1987). Under this rule, “federal 17          jurisdiction exists only when a federal question is presented on the face of the plaintiff’s properly 18          pled complaint.” Id.

19           Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1332, district courts have diversity jurisdiction only over “all civil 20          actions where the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $75,000, exclusive of interest
21          and costs,”<sup>1</sup> and the action is between: (1) “citizens of different States;” (2) “citizens of a State
22          and citizens or subjects of a foreign state;” (3) “citizens of different States and in which citizens 23          or subjects of a foreign state are additional parties;” and (4) “a foreign state . . . as plaintiff and 24          citizens of a State or of different States.”

25           The complaint states that federal question exists in this action, but the basis for federal 26          jurisdiction is not stated. If Plaintiff elects to amend her complaint, she must allege facts 27          establishing the existence of subject matter jurisdiction to proceed in federal court.

28          <sup>1</sup> Plaintiff indicates in her complaint that the amount in controversy is “$46,000, plus interest.” (Doc. 1 at 5.)

1           2.     Fraud

2           Although the complaint contains the word “fraud” (see Doc. 1 at 5, 10), there are no facts
3 alleged against any of the named defendants supporting this claim. Under California law, the 4 “elements of fraud are: (1) a misrepresentation (false representation, concealment, or 5 nondisclosure); (2) knowledge of falsity (or scienter); (3) intent to defraud, i.e., to induce 6 reliance; (4) justifiable reliance; and (5) resulting damages. Robinson Helicopter Co., Inc. v.
7 Dana Corp. .., 34 Cal.4th 979, 990 (2004). Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 9(b) requires that,
8 when a plaintiff alleges fraud, the circumstances constituting the alleged fraud must be “specific 9 enough to give defendants notice of the particular misconduct . . . so that they can defend against 10 the charge and not just deny that they have done anything wrong.” Although the substantive 11 elements of fraud are established by state law, a plaintiff must plead the elements in accordance 12 with the requirements of Fed. R. Civ. P. 9(b). See Vess v. Ciba-Geigy Corp., USA, 317 F.3d 13 1097, 1103 (9th Cir. 2003). Allegations of fraud should specifically include “an account of the 14 time, place, and specific content of the false representations as well as the identities of the parties
15 to the misrepresentations.” Swartz v. KPMG LLP, 476 F.3d 756, 764 (9th Cir. 2007). “The 16 plaintiff must set forth what is false or misleading about a statement, and why it is false.” Vess, 17 317 F.3d at 1106. In other words, a plaintiff must allege facts establishing “the who, what, when, 18 where, and how” of the fraud. Kearns v. Ford Motor Co., 567 F.3d 1120, 1124 (9th Cir. 2009).

19           3.     Disability Discrimination

20           Plaintiff mentions “discrimination disability” in her complaint (Doc. 1 at 7) and indicates 21 in the Civil Cover Sheet that the nature of her suit is “Amer[icans with] Disability – Other” (Doc.
22 1 at 7; Doc. 1-1), yet it is not at all clear how such a claim is applicable to this action. Title II of 23 the Americans with Disabilities Act (“ADA”) applies only to a “public entity’s services, 24 programs, or activities.” See 42 U.S.C. § 12132; O’Guinn v. Lovelock Corr. Ctr., 502 F.3d 1056, 25 1060 (9th Cir. 2007). Plaintiff has not alleged that any defendant was a public entity. As such,
26 no claim is stated under Title II of the ADA. Even interpreting the complaint broadly to seek to 27 state a claim under Title III of the ADA, applicable to discrimination on the basis of disability in 28

1 public accommodations, see 42 U.S.C. § 12182(a), the complaint fails to plausibly allege that
2 Plaintiff was discriminated against due to her disability by a public accommodation.

3       4.     Civil Rights

4       To the extent Plaintiff seeks to bring a “civil rights” claim under Section 1983 (see Doc. 1
5 at 12), a plaintiff must allege that the defendant (1) acted under color of state law, and (2) 6 deprived them of rights secured by the Constitution or federal law. Long v. County of Los
7 Angeles, 442 F.3d 1178, 1185 (9th Cir. 2006); see also Marsh v. Cnty. of San Diego, 680 F.3d
8 1148, 1158 (9th Cir. 2012) (discussing “under color of state law”). With regard to the first 9 element, private parties are not generally acting under color of state law for the purposes of 10 Section 1983. Price v. Hawaii, 939 F.2d 702, 707–08 (9th Cir. 1991) (“Careful adherence to the 11 ‘state action’ requirement preserves an area of individual freedom by limiting the reach of federal 12 law and federal judicial power. It also avoids imposing on the State, its agencies or officials, 13 responsibility for conduct for which they cannot fairly be blamed.”) (quoting Lugar v.
14 Edmondson Oil Co., 457 U.S. 922, 936–37 (1982)). There exist, however, some circumstances in 15 which the actions of a private actor may render that actor liable under section 1983. Villegas v.
16 Gilroy Garlic Festival Ass’n, 541 F.3d 950, 954 (9th Cir. 2008) (en banc). Specifically, a 17 plaintiff must show that “the conduct allegedly causing the deprivation of a federal right [was] 18 fairly attributable to the State.” Lugar, 457 U.S. at 937.

19       Here, all of the defendants are private parties, and Plaintiff fails to allege facts to support a 20 finding that any defendant has acted such that their conduct is fairly attributable to the 21 government. Accordingly, the complaint currently fails to state a cognizable Section 1983 claim.

22       C.     Leave to Amend

23       The Court has screened Plaintiff’s complaint and finds that it fails to state any cognizable
24 claims. Under Rule 15(a)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, “[t]he court should freely
25 give leave [to amend] when justice so requires.” Accordingly, the Court will provide Plaintiff
26 with time to file an amended complaint so she can set forth a basis for subject matter jurisdiction
27 and specify her claims with additional factual allegations. Lopez, 203 F.3d at 1130.

28       Plaintiff’s amended complaint should be brief, Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a), but it must identify

1 what causes of action are being pursued, identify the improper actions or basis for liability of each
2 defendant, and the factual allegations must demonstrate plausible claims, Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 678–
3 79. Although accepted as true, the “[f]actual allegations must be [sufficient] to raise a right to 4 relief above the speculative level.” Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555 (citations omitted). Each claim and 5 the involvement of each defendant must be sufficiently alleged. Plaintiff is advised that, in 6 determining whether a complaint states cognizable claims, the Court’s duty is to evaluate the 7 complaint’s factual allegations, not to wade through exhibits.

8 Plaintiff is further advised that an amended complaint supersedes all prior complaints filed
9 in an action, Lacey v. Maricopa Cty., 693 F.3d 896, 907 n.1 (9th Cir. 2012), and must be 10 “complete in itself without reference to the prior or superseded pleading,” Local Rule 220.
11 Therefore, in an amended complaint, as in an original complaint, each claim and the involvement 12 of each defendant must be sufficiently alleged.

13 The amended complaint should be clearly and boldly titled “First Amended Complaint,” 14 refer to the appropriate case number, and be an original signed under penalty of perjury.
15 Although Plaintiff has been given the opportunity to amend, it is not for the purpose of changing 16 the nature of this suit or adding unrelated claims. George v. Smith, 507 F.3d 605, 607 (7th Cir.
17 2007) (no “buckshot” complaints).

18 Plaintiff has a choice on how to proceed. Plaintiff may file an amended complaint as 19 described above, which will be screened in due course. Alternatively, Plaintiff may choose to 20 stand on her complaint subject to the Court issuing findings and recommendations to a district
21 judge consistent with this order. Lastly, Plaintiff may file a notice of voluntary dismissal.

22 IV. ORDER

23 Based on the foregoing, IT IS ORDERED that:

24 1. Within thirty (30) days from the date of service of this order, Plaintiff shall either:
25 a. File a First Amended Complaint;
26 b. Notify the Court in writing that she wants to stand on the current 27 complaint; or
28 c. File a notice of voluntary dismissal.

2. If Plaintiff chooses to file an amended complaint, Plaintiff shall caption the amended complaint "First Amended Complaint" and refer to case number 1:25-cv-00561-SKO.

3. Failure to comply with this order may result in the dismissal of this action.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
